

27th-28th
APRIL
2023

University of Luxembourg
Institute of English Studies,
Esch/Alzette, Belval Campus

Humanities

Call For Papers

Before Maastricht: Identity and Place in European Writing before the EU

ABSTRACT

This conference addresses the pressing need for a historical perspective on real and imagined forms of European coherence and invites scholars to investigate literary, aesthetic, and philosophical engagements with European identity produced before the formation of the European Union.

We welcome abstract proposals on the following topics:

- Nationality and statehood in literature
- Borders in literature
- Transnationalism and Transculturalism
- Multilingualism
- Sociolinguistics
- Periodicals as literature
- Functions and limitations of literary form
- Periodicals as texts of revolution
- The novel in Europe
- European identity in Cold War literature
- 'New' European identities
- Migrant literature
- Identity in the Digital Humanities

CONTACT

Please send a 250-word abstract for a 20-min paper along with a short biographical note to

Ass. Prof. Anne-Marie Millim
anne-marie.millim@uni.lu

or Dr. James Gallacher
james.gallacher@ext.uni.lu

by 28 February 2023.

Subject to change in the ongoing international health and travel situation, this conference will consist of both virtual and in-personal panels.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Prof. Gerardine Meaney, University College Dublin

Prof. Frank Shovlin, University of Liverpool

